GOSSIP FROM GOTHAM

Loyal Bryan Democrats to Hold an Important Conference.

PRELIMINARY MEETING ARRANGES IT

Advice of a Leader Regarding the Money Plank at Kansas City.

UNITED ACTION URGED

NEW YORK, May 2, 1900. An informal conference of some of the friends and supporters of William Jennings Bryan was held in this city yesterday. The conference was of a private character, and was intended to be merely preliminary to a larger and more important gathering which will undoubtedly be held in this city during the month of May. To this May meeting of democrats only men who loyally sup-ported Mr. Bryan in 1896 will be invited. Representative democrats like George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, "Farmer" Martine of Plainfield, N. J.; Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, N. Y.; W. E. Ryan of Rochester, N. Y.; Senator Howard of New Hampshire and John Brisben Walker-men in whom Mr. Bryan has confidence-will be invited. The idea of these Bryanites is not to antagonize the "powers that be," as represented by the various state democratic resented by the various state democratic organizations in New England and the north Atlantic states. The movement is entirely separate and distinct from the contesting delegation which the Chicago platform democrats have announced they will send to Chicago from New York state. The idea is that the platform at Kansas City will be written by Mr. Bryan's friends. They recognize the fact that ex-Senator Hill, because of the course which he pursued during the campaign in 1896, will not rini, because of the course which he pur-sued during the campaign in 1896, will not be able to secure any concessions from the Kansas City convention which will make it easier to carry on the campaign in New England and the north Atlantic states. As one democratic leader expressed it to-day.

That Kansas City convention is going "That Kansas City convention is going to act on the principle of the old clergy-men-find out which way the devil is going and then go in the opposite direction. Mr. Hill is a personal friend of mine, but if I wanted to get anything through that convention at Kansas City I would have him oppose it, and if I wanted to defeat anything there I would have him champion it."

Will 16 to 1 Be Dropped?

The chief subject of discussion todayand always the chief subject of discussion during these latter days, was whether there was any likelihood of the 16 to 1 plank be ing dropped from the platform. It was the consensus of opinion that the Chicago platform would be reaffirmed, the 16 to 1 proposition with it. no matter whether or not ex-Senator Hill repeated at Kansas City the brilliant fight that he made at Chicago in 1888.

There was a division of opinion as to whether the Chicago platform would be reaffirmed in general terms or whether the 1: to 1 clause would be honored with a specific reference. But whether a general or specific reference is indulged in, it was or specific reference is indulged in, it was agreed that the democratic party would be in an equally hard way during the closing days of the campaign when the lines were tightly drawn. In case of a general indorsement the party would be charged with cowardice and evasion, and votes would be lost where they will be most needed by the democrats in the south and west. If a specific indorsement is indulged in it was acknowledged that the campaign in the east must open with gloom and end in disaster.

Advised to Tell the Truth.

Finally a New York state democrat, who had been a personal friend of Cleveland during the old days, though now a warm admirer of William Jennings Bryan, said:

"Why not tell the truth in the money plank at the Kansas City convention? Mr. Bryan and the democrats of the south and the west, as honest men, cannot object to our writing into the platform a truthful statement of conditions as they exist today. I know that if Mr. Bryan's friends in the east will meet Mr. Bryan's friends of the west half way that there will be no trouble. We can reaffirm our belief in the doctrine of 16 to 1 as enunciated in the Chicago platform. We can even pledge ourselves to use our best efforts to bring about a restoration of silver to the place that it occupied before the demonetization in 1873. We all know that nothing can be done in the admirer of William Jennings Bryan, said: all know that nothing can be done in the matter until 1904 or 1906, anyhow, and there

Manly Acknowledgment Urged.

"The republican party, representing the American people; the government, in law and in fact, has made the gold standard the law of the land. For this the democrats of the country are not to blame. We did the best that we could to defeat the measure, but we failed. Now, why not acknowledge our defeat like men, and like good citizens bow to the law of the land as the people of the north, who hated slavery, bowed to the Dred Scott decision? At the same time we will pledge ourselves to bring about a restoration of silver to its old place as soon as we can do it—something that will not be possible, however, during the first four years of the administration of Bryan if he is elected.

if he is elected.

"What we want here in the east, however, to help us to win is a recognition of the fact that the country has been forced to the gold standard basis by our defeat—no matter now what the causes, in 1896. Then we must stop all of this insensate howling about the 50-cent dollar and prevent the workingmen who have savings bank deposits from getting frightened by the falsehoods of the enemy.

Not Modify, but Explain.

"This we can do and at the same time express our belief in 16 to I by a mere declaration that it is not our intention or our desire to interfere with existing obligations-that all debts must be paid in the same kind of money they are contracted in. All debts contracted upon a gold standard basis should be paid in gold; all debts contracted upon a coin basis should be paid in coin. What we want to do with the Chicago platform is not to modify, but to excago platform is not to modify, but to explain. And when you remember that the contention of the free silver men four years ago was that in equity all debts contracted on a coin basis should be paid on a coin basis you see how simple and easy it is for us to get together. You can stand on the street in Denver, and nine men out of every ten you meet will tell you that the proposition to pay debts on the same basis they were contracted in is a correct one. You can do the same thing in New York. Then why not get together on a plank of that kind and then in 1904 if we win again we will give the people of the country free and unlimited coinage of silver win again we will give the people of the country free and unlimited comage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1?

"We have everything to gain and nothing to lose if we do this, for the Supreme Court of the United States, recognizing the sacredness of the contract and being controlled largely in the interests of the conservative elements of the country, will servative elements of the country, will make us do it anyhow. So why quarrel among ourselves and lose an important election when, oy an expression of simple henesty and promising to pay our debts just as we contracted them—just as is nominated in the bond—the east and west can get together? Mr. Bryan is not obliged to recede from his nostition in favor of free recede from his position in favor of free silver one iota; we will carry the country for him on the issues of trusts and imperialism, and everybody will be happy."

Effort at United Action.

It was decided to prepare a circular at the May meeting of these followers of Bryan, which will be sent to all of the members of the national committee and all of the delegates and alternates to the Kansas City convention, asking them to try and unite upon a platform of this description secure in case a fight is precipitated in the Kansas City convention by the eastern delegates. If possible, some of the men interested in this harmony plan will attend the conference of the democrats to be held at Washington this week. They will ask the gold standard leaders who are now coming back into the party not to do anything radical in opposition to Mr. Bryan; not to oppose the Chicago platform, but will rather urge them to follow the example of Harry Clay, the "great compromiser," and see if some broad middle ground cannot be found that will enable the democrats of the south and the west to act in unison. Japanese Control Camphor Prices. The Japanese government has gone into

ALLEY EXTENDS UPWARD.

Permission to Build Over Cannot Be

Messrs. Woodward & Lothrop several days ago applied to the District Commis sioners for a permit to connect the additional warehouse now being constructed by the firm in square 369 with its present building. It appears these buildings abut

on a fifteen-foot public alley in the square, and the permit applied for contemplated leaving the alley unobstructed up to the second floor of the buildings, and above

that the connection of the second, third and fourth floors was to be inclosed. There being a question involved as to whether such a connection between the houses

would be an occupation of public space for private purposes, the Commissioners re ferred it to their attorney, Mr. A. B. Du-ers that the public ownership of an aller

is not confined to its mere surface, but ex-

construction, he thinks, would not consti-

"The building regulation," says Mr. Duvall, "which contemplates the construction of a temporary, light bridge across alleys, is, in my judgment, a regulation of somewhat doubtful validity. It could only be justified in view of the character of the bridge constructed—its inconsequential interference with the purposes and uses of the alley. I am of the opinion that the permit applied for to connect these warehouses should not be granted."

Capt. Beach, the Engineer Commissioner, recommended that Messrs. Woodward & Lothrop be informed that it is impossible, under the law, to grant their request for permission to construct a building across the alley, but that permission can be granted them to build a bridge across it, connecting one entrance upon one side with a single entrance upon the other side, the bridge to consist of a floor and such railing on the sides as may be necessary for safety. The all-important thing is to keep the stomach right, and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a capriclous appetite and a feeling that certain favorite articles of food must ers or deting of any sort; on the contrary, I always eat what my appetite craves. But for the past eight years I have made it a daily practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets.

Men and women past fifty years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect di-gestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used is Stuart's Dys-

best known and most widely used is Stuart's Dys-pepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well-regulated bouse-bold from Maine to California, and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favor.
